Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or manuscript. The text is written in a dark ink on aged, slightly discolored paper. The script is dense and fills most of the page, with some lines appearing to be underlined or separated by small gaps. The overall appearance is that of a formal or official record from a past era.

Handwritten text in a script, likely Indic, on a palm leaf manuscript. The text is arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines. The script is finely etched into the surface of the dried leaf. There are several dark, irregular holes and marks along the length of the leaf, suggesting damage or wear over time. The leaf itself is a light tan or yellowish-brown color, showing the natural texture and grain of the palm leaf material. The background is a solid black, which makes the lighter-colored leaf stand out.
